Diritti Umani: All'OSCE raccomandazioni all'Italia sulla libertà di religione

Varsavia, 26 settembre 2013

Alla conferenza annuale OSCE/ODIHR (Human Dimension Implementation Meeting) raccomandazioni al Governo italiano sulla controversa situazione dei diritti e delle pari opportunità delle minoranze religiose.

La rappresentanza italiana all'OSCE ha espresso attenzione riguardo alle problematiche sollevate, ripromettendosi ulteriori indagini e approfondimenti. Il delegato OSCE del governo ha infatti seguito personalmente il dibattito specifico sul tema nell'ambito del side event "Institutional Discrimination and Stigmatisation of Religious and Spiritual Minorities".

Il dibattito, che ha ospitato fra gli altri il sen. Marco Perduca (XVI Legislatura), il presidente di Human Rights Without Frontiers Willy Fautré e la referente italiana Raffaella Di Marzio, si è concentrato sugli aspetti legislativi, politici e mediatici della discriminazione religiosa, avvalendosi di testimonianze dirette italiane e internazionali.

Oggetto dell'incontro è stato, in modo particolare, il legame tra campagne anti-sette e stigmatizzazione dei culti minoritari, e la compatibilità della collaborazione tra discussi movimenti anti-sette e forze di polizia in Italia e in Europa con il rispetto dei diritti umani fondamentali e la libertà di coscienza.
